Background: -

Sanwar Mal Saini born on 10 July 1973 was brought up in a small village in Ratangarh, Churu (Rajasthan). His father Shri Kanhaiya lal Saini was a farmer and mother Smt. Chanda Devi, a house wife. He belongs to a traditional family. When he was seven years old he started carpet weaving and used to earn 60 rupees per month.

For a few days he went to school for his education but later dropped out. He continued his studies at home.

The financial condition of his family was not so good. His father was a marginal farmer. He had five brothers and one sister in his family. He was the youngest among them. When he was only eleven years old he went to Gujarat with his eldest brother Kesar ji and started earning 500 rupees per month. But this is not sufficient for Sanwer Mal Saini. He wants to get more wealth and reduce the Contractor Ship. In his childhood days he saw exploitation of weavers.

After gaining more knowledge on carpet weaving he decided to earn more money in order to lead a better life. So, he started to get contracts on looms. In this way he earned more money as well as respect. But he was not happy. Being a contractor he had to exploit the poor and illiterate weavers which he disliked. Thus he left this job.

During this period he met Mr. N.K. Chaudhary. Mr. Chaudhary is a Trusty & C.M.D of Jaipur Rugs Foundation & Jaipur Rugs Company. He is a grate person. Mr. Chaudhary found his ability and provided him more responsibilities in Gujarat and Ghaziabad which he accepted happily. Through hard work and dedication he proved his potentialities, giving better and positive results in the areas of Gujarat & Ghaziabad. Presently, he is earning Twenty Thousand Rupees per month (20000 Rupees) being satisfied with his present life. At present he worked in Dausa Branch as a Branch Manager for protect poor and illiterate weavers from the exploitation of contractors.
